CHEAP CHARLEY.

THERE'S a legend in the city And the country, often told How the ravages of Time Caused the clothing to grow old.

Republican.

Then the fairies set to thinking How the clothing they could mend, Or find some Merchant Tailor On whom they could depend. There was Pat from Emerald Island

But his stitches wouldn't hold, I'hen came the smooth faced Yankee Who to chest made awful bold.

The man from Chinee he no likee, And his seames muches bad, And blitchee come to pieces, Make manee muchee mad

Then the fairies waved their wand On the German Fatherland, And brought forth a benefactor Known as Charles, the Woollen

They bade him cross the ocean, On free soil his trade to ply, And he's known from Maine to Utah As the man who cannot lie.

CHEAP CHARLEY is his cognomen A name that's pleasing to the ears, And when he sees a man in tatters His honest heart dissolves in tears Fine Suits he sells at lowest figures Hats and Caps, with Ties to match

You'll find pront, gentle stranger, If you l.it his welcome latch. Cheap Charley's stock is always largest And best selected in the town.

It makes the other dealers scary, Causing many an angry frown. But he likes to please the people, And for rivals little cares,

Competition makes him happy,
While he sells a suit that wears Go and look his stock all over, Note its make, and fit and style, Compared with others you have no-

The eight great trunk railways between the seaboard and the West have agreed upon and signed a new treaty of pool and peace. It remains to be seen whether the new plan will work more smoothly and remain in force more permanently His Death Due to an Affection of the than have previous plans. These great railway rivals are in one respect like the Great Powers of Europe—they are continually making new treaties of peace, but are nevertheless continually on the "ragged edge" of war.

Kansas City has a sensation in the discovery that a smooth-faced individue', named Frank Gray, who has done business in that city for several years as a saloon-keeper and proprietor of a grocery, is a woman named Mrs. Mary B. Wolcott. During her dual existence Mrs. Wolcott has drank in saloon bars with men, smiled upon ladies, and transacted business like a man, but when she visited Columbus, Ohio, her former home, she went dressed in clothes becoming her sex.

A New York paper publishes an interview with General John A. Logan, in which the Illinois Senator vigorously refutes the notion of the 'magwump' press to the effect that he injured the Republican party in New York by the character of the lusane Asylum.

His taiting mental powers were first speeches which he delivered during the campaign. He shows that in the counties where his speeches were made the Republicans not only held their own, but increased their majorities, while elsewhere throughout the State the Republican majorities, as a rule, fell off from those of last year. He then turns the tables on the magwamp papers by showing that in New York City, where they are published, the Democratic majority is increased by several thousand overlast year. In citing facts General Logan has the advantage. He also declares that denunciation of election frauds at the South is not reviving sectional questions, and that he also denounced election frauds in Cincinnati and in Chicago. This declaration is also sound. The Republicans have been defeated only in New York and Virginia at the elections in pivotal states, this year. In all the states carried by Republican, the auffrage usaue has been boldly advanced by Republican ora tors on the stump, including Sherman, Logan, Forsker and others. The average result shows that this is an exceedingly live issue, and is likely to so continue.

Secretary Whitney is thinking of skilled workmen formerly in Mr. Roach's employ at hand to do the work. If there were no shipbuilding establishments in the United States, there would not be workmen possessing sufficient skill to finish these vessels, and the Secretary would be compelled to send to England for skilled workmen and to give them work at the Navy Yards at American rates. It does not appear to be a bad plan, on the whole, to have a few ship yards in the couniry where vessels of war can be built and where intelligent mechanics can learn their trade.

The New York World, the accepted organ of the Democratic party

Opposed to Mr. Hill's nomination, President Cleveland remained indifferent to the success of the party that elected him - remained motionless until the last hours of the campaign. When he did move and make a contribution of $1,000 to the State Committee his voice was silent. Not one word of sympathy and friendship for Mr. Hill could be extracted from him, in spite of the Hill's nomination till the day of election Mugwump journals used Mr. Oleveland's name to defeat Gov. ernor Hill. They were not rebuked The Federal patronage was used against the Democracy. Not only the many thousands of Republicans who have been retained in office, probably four-fifths of the Federal appointees in the state, but some of the principal appointees of Mr. Cleveland, such as Postmaster Pearson and Naval Officer Burt, voted against the Democratic candidates.

PHILADILERIA, Pa., November 9.-Actor John McCullough died suddenly yesterday morning at his residence here.

Philiabulphia, Pa., November 9.-John McCullough, the actor, dled at five minutes past one o'clock yesterday morning at his residence, 261 East Thompson street. He passed away without a struggle, and dld not even utter a groan. For several hours prior to his death, there were present Mrs. Wert, his daughter, Mrs. James McCullough, his daughter-inlaw, Mrs John McCullough, Wm. F. Johnson, his legal adviser, Dr. Eagel and his nurse, William Nutt. He having occur brought here from the New York Asylum a couple of weeks ago, his improvement the past few days had been no marked that his death has caused con-siderable surprise. His physician had given his family and friends reason to hope for his final recovery, and that he would retain to the stage. No arrangements have yet been made for his forrat. McCullough leaves a widow, two fiter-Mith year.

The Cause of Death.

In Hugo Engel, McCallough's physiclan, save death was due to an affection of the brain, caused by blood poisoning. Dr. Engel asserts that McCullough was perfectly same, and that he should not have been placed in the Bloomingdale apparent in January, 1884, and in April of that year he failed altogether in "Otherlor" in Washington. His allment munifested itself thenceforth in the loss i memory. At times the prompter had follow him about the stage. He went to Carlsbad last summer, and returned in August. He played a five nights' engage-ment in Milwaukee, and from there went to Chicago. His last appearance on the stage was in that city. On the night of September 29th, 1884, while performing Spartacus in "The Gladiator," his apped at the end of the second act. He was painfully incoherent and wan-deflug, and his attempts to collect himself were most pitiful. He gradually grew worse until his death, occasionally improving a little, but bis friends always | adian shore of the Niagara River nearbelieved there could be no complete re-

He was brought to this city on Sunday. night, October 25th, just two weeks ago, and taken to the residence of his family, where he died. At that time he recog-nized no one, not even his wife or his two sous, and had no control of his muscles, except a little over those of his right arm. He regained the use of his linhs slowly, and in a few days was able oralse timself to a sitting posture. He outlined in this condition until yesterspasms and fits and in succession had 125 fits after which he acted queerly. He became subject to violent fits and by the time that he grew to be three years old became violently insane. His case became worse as time passed and he was finally imprisoned in an outbuilding on the farm. Afterward he was taken to the attic. There he has since remained for years a raving maniac. He neve comes down stairs. We have a small stove to keep his room warm in cold weather. His condition is at some times more violent than others. To-day he suffers more than usual. He makes but little noise at night and never has at tempted to do anyone any harm. He don't seem to realize that anyone is near him. It is impossible to keep clothes upon him, as he will tear them to pieces as fast as they are put on him, and in his way of conducting himself is just like a child."

Broke His Hand But Won the Fight. St. Paul, Minn., November 9.-Two hundred people went down the river vesterday afternoon to witness the hardglove fight between Pat Killen, of Chlcago, and James Lanuon, of this city. The contest lasted nine rounds, and was more a contest of wind than scientific slugging ability. In the second round Killen struck Lannon a terrific blow, breaking his (Killen's) hand. During the urst three rounds Lannon had the best of the light, but from that time to the finish Killen had it his own way. In the ninth round Kitlen floored Lannon who staggered to his feet and fell ove backward, when Killen was given the fight. It was believed before the fight by St. Paul people that Launon would be an casy winner.

The Galveston Boycott-Nearing an End.

Houston, Trx., November 9 .- The Reights of Labor held a meeting at ten o'clock yesterday morning with eight hundred members in attendance, nearly half of whom have joined the order since the commencement of the strike now on hand. A telegram was read from P. H. Golden, Grand Master Workman at Galveston, directing the men to resume work to-day but to continue to boycott all freight consigned in care of the Mal-lory Steamship Line at Gaiveston. In compliance with this request, all the members who have been guarding the cotton companies and railroad yards for the past twenty-four hours, were ordered to discontinue such duty, and the strike is virtually at an end in Houston. Trouble may grow out of the order to continue to boycott the Mallory Line, but the different rallroads have lesped orders to their agents not to receive freight for the Mallory Line until the difficulty existing between them and the Knights of Labor la settled. The order from Gov-ernor Ireland last night to call out the famous Houston Light Guard if necessairy, caused considerable uneasiness in their ranks, but the present solution of the trouble has happily averted the ne-cessity for doing so.

Two Men Go Over Niagara Falls.

BUFFALO, N. Y., November 9.-A special to the Times from Chippewa, Out., says: About half-past two o'clock this afternoon two men in a small row-boat were observed by some boys on the Caning the rapids just above the falls. Apparently they were unconscious of their danger at the time. They were once in close proximity to the shore, but again headed out in the river. When they were warned from those on shore of their danger they appeared not to understand and steered more down stream than ever. When in the twain, and one of them clong for a mo ment to a part of it, but they were soon lost sight of. Upon inquiry they proved to have been two Germans whose names no one appears to know, from whence they came, or at what point they embarked upon their fatal voyage. Late yesterday afternoon it was ru-mored that one of the victims was a young German named "Angust," a baker, who came from Buffalo last year

Attempted Murder.

Columbus, O., November 9 - About 7:45 p. m. yesterday, Auditor of State Fulle Kiesewetter attempted to shoot W. J. Elllott, editor of the Sunday Capi tol. Fillott was standing in the corridor proached the house, when they found of the Acil House conversing with a friend, when Klesewetter entered and almost immediately encountered Elllott, when he draw his revolver and pointed it at Elliott's head. Elliott caught the weapon in time to direct the bullet over is head, receiving a slight wound in the right hand. Ethott tried to get, his own revolver, which was in his hip pocket, with his overcoat buttoned tightly, and as Kiesewetter was ready to fire again, Efflott ran toward the office of the hotel, the second shot going wide.

The shooting is the result of a longand shooting is the result of a long-continued abuse of Kiesewetter, through the columns of the Capital, the last of which yesterday morning, by intima-tion accused Kiesewetter of being im-plicated in the manipulation of returns like the bowling of a big dog, and then in this county at the late election. Marble's Mission.

Washington, D. C., November 9. Mr. Manton Marble, who returned from Europe a few days ago, has reported in person to Secretary Bayard and President Cleveland the results of his confidential mission there, in which he has been employed since last May. The important mission, now first made pubic, and which are fully stated in the following letter of instructions from Secreshows, it is sald, in administration circles, that the President, whatever the view expressed in his silver letter writ-ten at Albany before his term of office began, or those which he may be reafted set forth in his first message to Congress, promptly accepted the duty imposed upon him by the existing laws of Congress, requiring a renewed endeavor to promote a bi-metallic union with the leading nations of Europe:

Mr. Schuell has begun an account of the latter of the latte mits it to be known that Mr. Marble's private letters to Secretary Bayard and the President have recounted his discussions respecting an International Bi-metallic Union, held with an extraordinary number of persons in those countries of the highest competency in this regard by their political rank and inluence, or by their expert knowledge.

Failure of Secretary Manning to "Gather Figs of Thistles,"

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 9 .-Secretary Manning has received a large number of replies to his circular of inquiry respecting the tariff question, but it is understood that in the greater oumber of instances, the leiters are not altogether up to the standard desired. Assistant Secretary Fairchild, referring o the matter, is quoted in the Capital as saying: "Those who are interested in the tariff question will be much disappointed when they see the documents which have been received in response to Mr. Manning's rircular of inquiry. The object of the inquiry was to call out the views of the mercantile and industrial men of the country as the legislation needed or desired by the interests they represent and it was intended to submit the replies to Congress for its information and enidance: but those for whose benefit this plan was adopted do not seem to have taken much interest in the matter. for not one in twenty of the men of firms to whom the inquirles were addressed have responded, and the replies freceived are not of a character either to have much influence, or represent the views of the interests involved."

It is the intention of the Secretary, however, to send the correspondence to Congress for what it may be worth.

The Validity of the Ball Telaphone Pat-

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 9.-A great deal of interest is manifested in the case which is to be argued before Secretary Lamar to-day, involving the reopening of the question of the validity of the Bell Telephone patents. The lawyers representing the "Pan Electric" and the National Improved Companies are here prepared, they say, to convince the Secretary that he ought to advise the Attor ney-General to institute proceedings to vacate the patents under which Prof. Belt has been monopolizing the profits character and purpose of Mr. Marbie's arising out of the invention of the telejess emphatic in their claim, however that they can very readily prove to the entire satisfaction of the Government tary Bayard to Mr. Marble, and his circular letter to Minister McLean, warranted.

> WASHINGTON, D. C., 'November 9 .-Sporting circles here are very much interested in the decision which is to be made by the National Base Ball League in December respecting the admission of the National Club of Washington into the League. Paul Hines, of the Providence Club, is here, and has strengtheued the hopes of the National managers by confirming the reported decision of the Providence Club to withdraw from the League. Hines wants to play in Washington next season if the Nationals are admitted to the League, and, in his opinion, this can be consummated by a judicions expenditure of money.

Wreck Near Sand Creek This forencon a Peoria, Decatur & Evansville freight train came to grief near the Sand Creek bridge, south and east of Decatur. The train was speeding along of the train to leave the track and tear up the ties and rails for several yards. There were five men in the caboose, and as soon as they realized that something was wrong, all jumped off, escaping without injury. Among the passengers was John Warnscott, of Mt. Zion, who tore his coat slightly as he made the jump off the Jaboose The engine brought the forward part of the train and the passengers to the city. At the junction a telegram was sent to Mt. Zion to hold the Midland train there until the wreck is oleared away and the track repaired. Preebyterian Fair

The ladics of the Presbyterian "Church Building Fund" are very desirous of having every lady in the church and congregation interested in their Fair, which will be held on the 10th of December If the ladies attend the preliminary meetings as they are announced from the pulpit, they will find ready work for willing hands. The Society is taking orders in fancy2work for Christmas presents, and they have quantities of work on hand yet to be completed. Attend the sewing meeting at Mrs Jno. The Depot News Stand, presided over by Charley McCandless, seems to be an easy crib for the burglars to crack. It was broken into again last night through the rear door, and robbed of two boxes of eigers and a little money. No arrests.

Going to the fire this morning, the hose wagon came to grid at the street car turn-out, near the high school building. The wheel struck a washout in the track and the jar threw the driver from his seat under the wagon, greatly endangering his life, but fortunately he escaped with only severe bruses. The forward axle was aprong by the : ir.

SUNDAY night one or more burglars visted Mrs. Guyton's home, west of the Shockley residence, and stole twelve to fourteen pounds of butter, a lot of fresh meat and plum pudding The articles were taken from the rear of the dwelling.

The Opera To-Night

The favorite Thompson Opera company has arrived and will give us the only gename Mil ado to-night. The troupe appeared Friday night at Peoria, and Saturday the Transcript said

The performance demonstrated what 'The Mika's really is when it is well done, and explained its remarkable popularity in the largest cities of Britain and America where largest cities of Britain and America where its runs and patronage has e been phenomenal. The audience last 6x ening appeared delighted, and were suttusfastio in their applause, frequently encoring the most attractive music, coming out many said it was the nest comic opers presentation they had witnessed and henid in Peoria. The company were on their me tie, having been informed of the previous tailint of the opera when done in Peoria by a poor troupe and consequently the intrinsic excellence or soloists and chorus appeared at its best. The setting of the opera and the costuming as well are picturesque and pleasing, and there is a quaintness and unique originality about the entertainment which adds much to its melodious and dramatic interest. 115 melodious and gramatic interest

ARE THERE JONAHS IN DEGATUR? Synopsis of Rev. George Stevens' Ser mon at Stapp's Chapel

By request of the Y. M. C. A. the Decatur pastors delivered sermons to young men. Rev. Vosburgh, Rev. Pinkerton, Rev. Newcomer, Rev. Scott and the other pastors had large congregations, as did also Rev. J. P. Dimmitt, of Clinton, who presched at the First M. E. church. Rev. George Stevens at Stapp's Chapel in talking to the young men, took for his text the first three verses of the first chapter of Jonah, where the Lord commands Jonah to "Arise, go to Ninevels, that great city, and cry against it, for their wickedness is come up before me The book of Jonah is one that is sneered at by infidels, but it is a matterof-fact truthful narrative, and occupies a place among the divinely inspired books Man may greep the pen but God moves the hand that writes. God told Jonah to go to Nineveh. He thought to flee from duty, started for Joppa, goes down to the wharf; inquires if there is a ship going to Tarshish, is told there is one ready to start, steps into the ticket office, and pays his fare like a man. This is a ray of light upon his character, although leeing from duty he does not dead beat his way, although he leaves behind one of the grandest opportunities ever offered to man-that of carrying the message of ealvation to six score thousand unwarned souls. How many of us are Jonahs, with it may be one little venture, fleeing from duty? He goes aboard the ship, does not seek cabin passage, but like a runaway as he is, goes below out of sight. The ves sel moved out. He is asleep, a runaway oft on the deep, but God does not eleep. He sends a storm to arrest him, first a breeze, then a gale, then a burncane. The captain gives the order, Cut away the rigging, let go the masts, overboard with the cargo, and pray to God save the ship. Seldom is a sea captain an atheist. He knows where to go. The captain finds Jonah seleep and said, "Awake thou that sleepest." Jonah is aroused. The winde say to him, "Where is the runaway?" Jonah cried out, "Cast me into the sea." The sailors pray to God for forgiveness as they throw Jonah into the sea, where he is swallowed by a great fish and is carried for about three days, and finally landed on shore alive.

Every man, like Jonah, at some time flees from daty, waiting duties like patients in a doctor's office, talking and waiting their turn. Duties come at last, some like a sheriff. It may be amid burning trials, and some linger until it is too late. Jonah's excuses: Nineveh was a great and wicked city, it was 600 miles through a dreary wilderness to reach it it was a disagreeable duty, it was to a people he hated, and the people who were Gentiles were rivals of the Jews. Does it pay to fiee flee from God give school, hates fractions, despuses grammar and has no love for studies, decides to lies from home, but scarcely gets started until the whale is after him. Does it pay? He has to go to Nineveh after all. The young man or boy may revel Saturday night, play ball on Sunday, read literature on Monday, but on Tuesday the whale gets him. We may season our salads with champagne and live in style, hoping to reach a green old age. but at 40 dyspepsia drives us back to Nineveh. We may pay whole fare while fleeing from duty but we never get full value. What does a young man gain by
